Highway Dept. Office May Move To Hondo

S. A. Office Too Crowded; Field Wanted

From hats of the District IX State Highway Patrol Headquarters, it is in Hondo the end of the week or the beginning of next week that the highway department is looking for a prospective location for the district headquarters which must move out of San Antonio.

The Highway Department, attempting to enlarge all of their district offices of which there are 14 in the state of Texas, is too crowded in San Antonio for efficient operation. Hondo offers excellent facilities, a location in the center of the district, proximity to the population center of San Antonio, ample space and a perfect road network for all points in South Texas.

The headquarters would include a 1,000 watt radio station, at least three acres of land for underground cables, a 750 foot tower for radio transmission, about 2,000 square feet of floor space.

Personnel of the district headquarters would include four radio operators, a number of maintenance men and other officials and would probably add about 20 families to the population of Hondo.

Definite has been decided on future location of the district, but all indications point to Hondo and Hondo is on the top of their list.

Former H. A. A. F. Officer Returns Evangelist

B. Robinson, of Milan, Tex., will do the preaching at the Church of Christ meeting at the Church of Christ, 24th St., beginning Monday, Sept. 1 and continuing for ten days.

Robinson was stationed here at the start of the Field till 1943, instructing in Navigation. The former army Captain is now for the Home-coming in Hondo and was speaker on that occasion.

The public is invited to hear him on Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Heat And Heat Coming

An inch of rain showered Hondo between Saturday, Aug. 23 and Sunday of this week, in an inch to half inch gulps on different days, according to measurements of H. E. Haass, meteorologist.

Best showers were on Thursday and Friday of last week and Monday of this week when 0.41 inches was recorded each day. On Aug. 20, rain amounted to 0.31, and on Aug. 21, there were two falls of 0.03 inches, one on Aug. 18 and Aug. 24.

Temperatures were generally higher than they have been in recent weeks. High was 97, attained on Aug. 16 and 18. Coolest day was Thursday when maximum was 89. Minimas for the week were all in the low seventy rains Tuesday afternoon when 0.60 inches flooding down Hondo with such velocity that many cars were stalled and traffic stopped.

Best Refrigerated Air Conditioner In A Medina County Retail Store At Windrows; Breiten, DeMontel Also Improve

Windrow's have installed the best refrigerated air-conditioner in Medina county retail store, and it began operation two weeks ago. It is almost as good as an ordinary automobile, distributes washed and chilled air throughout the store. The works are much like those of a regular household electric refrigerator, except that they are bigger, and produce as much air as would be given off by tons of ice. The freezing condense much of the moisture from the air, making the air even drier than the outdoor air.

Gas furnace is also part of the mechanism, and will supply air through the same pipes during the winter months. Ralph DeMontel is enlarging

Young, old and in-between were all having fun at Castroville Sunday. Shown at upper left are Mrs. Margaret Haby of Dunlay, watching Mrs. Alvin Huegele of Castroville keep track of one of the youngest visitors, Roberta Haby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haby of Dunlay. The boy waving the balloon at top center had just been lucky at the fishpond and was in much too big a hurry to stop and tell the Anvil Herald photographer his name. Joe Lutz, D'Hanis, one of the oldest men present, was enjoying the day as much as anyone. He was standing near the dinner line when his picture was snapped. Mrs. L. E. Heath of Hondo was sitting to the left of Mrs. Henry Frick of Eagle Pass, daughter of one of the early Castroville postmasters in the 1880's. Lady with her back turned is Mrs. Alex Haby of Hondo. She gave another cigarette the complaint of the two men, both of them Tschirharts, in this trio of barbecue turners. That wood smoke wasn't enough for them. Charles Suehs, Sr., in the middle, isn't giving any, thanks. Most fascinated group on the grounds was around the fishpond, as long as the "fish" held out. The kids here are baiting a hook with a nickel. The nickel pond seemed to do a lot more business than the ten cent pond.

J. R. Duncan, tax man at the court house, is shown expounding at great length in the picture at lower right. His victim is Robert Sittre and also barely visible are A. O. Beck and Henry Crutchfield — we think.

Castroville Celebration Draws Large Crowds; Hans Mans The Bean Pot

COLLEGE BUILDING AMENDMENT LOSES IN MEDINA COUNTY

College Building Amendment was thoroughly trounced in Medina County last Saturday when voters turned it down 288-86 in a remarkably heavy vote.

By Thursday morning of this week Natalia still had not called in the returns from the ninth precinct. Precincts 10 and 19, East Devine and West Devine, were the only favoring precincts, going in favor by narrow margins.

Statewide, a majority of Texas counties voted against the bonds, but big city votes kept it out in front. With 55 counties still to be accounted for, the Texas electorate is now 53 per cent in favor.

and re-painting his appliance store this week, moving a partition farther to the rear so that he will have more display room. New shelves and a complete interior paint job are also part of the change.

Alfred Breiten is now completely moved into his new garage building which was formerly Mechler's blacksmith shop. He put in a concrete floor, straightened up some of the walls, added a partial false front to level out the front roof line, and has painted both inside and out. M. L. Mechler still has his welding shop in the rear of this building, however.

Fly Drug Company has been removing excess shelving, and has done some painting, revamping the inside appearance.

Holy Masses Start Annual Affair

By Mrs. Rudolph Tschirhart
Many from far and near gathered under the huge pecan trees along the winding Medina river, Sunday, Aug. 24, 1947 to help celebrate one of the annual affairs at Castroville, the St. Louis Church celebration and homecoming.

Here every year young and old gather to reminisce and be happy. The day was off to a good start with Holy Masses in historic St. Louis Church in the heart of the town, after which everyone gathered for a delicious barbecue dinner and all the trimmings.

The afternoon was spent in conversation and various amusements. Despite the thundershowers which interrupted the afternoon the celebration was a huge success.

HENRY M. FINGER APPOINTED DISTRICT VFW OFFICER

Henry M. Finger of Hondo has been appointed District Deputy Inspector of the 11th district, Veterans of Foreign Wars, following nomination for that position by District Commander Donald Dill of Uvalde, according to word received this week from the state headquarters.

In his new office Finger will inspect the books, financial status, and various other matters in all of the posts of the district.

Navy Beans Are Just Human Beans In Uniform

Gabe Hans knows how to cook beans, according to the thousands who sampled them at Castroville last Sunday.

Getting Gabe cornered for his recipe was not easy, because he was tired, sleepy, and ready for bed by the time most folks were beginning to settle their barbecue. However, The Anvil Herald is able to report that Gabe did tell all about his bean-cooking technique.

He says that the most important thing in cooking 150 pounds of beans (dry weight) is to keep the bacon out of the mixture until nearly done.

Mr. Hans started cooking the beans early in the morning, and after about four hours on the fire, he added the fried bacon, tomato puree and seasoning. He says that salt pork will ruin beans, in his opinion, and that the most economical flavoring is bacon ends, which sell for about half the price of good bacon.

Another problem today is finding enough beans. Fortunately, when beans began to look scarce, one of the Castroville merchants laid back a few hundred pounds for the celebration.

GRELL OPENS WHOLESALE PRODUCE OPERATIONS

Marvin Grell, who recently sold his interest in G & M Food Store to his partner, is opening a wholesale produce business in Hondo.

Grell retained the large truck which had been used in the grocery, and will use that to start out his new business, which will consist mainly of making trips to various produce markets and buying produce for sale to local stores.

NOTICE

All stores in Hondo will remain closed Monday, Sept. 1, in observance of Labor Day, according to word from the Hondo Chamber of Commerce.

County Enlistees Total Nine In Past Six Months

Nine young men of Medina County and five from other places have enlisted in the army through the office of M-Sgt. Robert A. Koranek since March 1, all of them for three year periods and all for the Army Air Forces.

Five of the number are Hondoans. They are John C. Walls, former fighter pilot who re-enlisted as a Master Sergeant; Walter R. Speece, former AAF mechanic who re-enlisted as a Sergeant; James H. Cooper, former AAF mess sergeant who re-enlisted as a Corporal; and Reyes Alderette and Jesus Esquivel, both in the army for the first time.

Devineans are John S. West, former AAF clerk who has re-enlisted as a Staff Sergeant; and J. W. Yarbrough, original enlistment. Two from Natalia include Roy R. Jarvis, former Infantry officer, now in the AAF as a Staff Sergeant, and James L. Smalling, original enlistment.

Enlistees going through Koranek's office from other counties include Charles R. Kennedy of Houston, Fredrico A. Constancio and Jose Gonzales of Del Rio, and Juilo B. Tojeda and Marco A. Avila, both of Guatamala City, Guatamala.

ANTHRAX KILLS CATTLE SOUTH OF D'HANIS ON GROSS RANCH

Anthrax has been reported on the Henry Gross ranch south of D'Hanis, according to Dr. E. L. Kelley, local veterinarian. He said that several steers, a horse and a mule had died from the dreaded livestock disease, but that no quarantine appeared likely. Farm and ranch owners around the Gross ranch are vaccinating, and it is believed that the disease will be kept under control, without any further serious loss.

HONDO V. F. W. ORDERS RIFLES FOR INTERMENT RITES; WARNED F. B. I. ON TRAIL OF G. I. FIREARMS

Hondo Post 2891, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will order eight rifles for use of an honor guard at reinterment services for soldiers who were killed overseas or for any other military type funeral in this area, it was decided at a VFW meeting Tuesday night.

Order for the rifles will be sent this week, but there is no accurate information on time of delivery. The U. S. Army requested the VFW to take this action to assist in military funerals since the army itself is too short-handed to handle the many funerals in the various areas, and the army will try to get the rifles in the hands of the post before October.

District Commander Donald Dill of Uvalde was guest at the Post's meeting Tuesday night and warned of an FBI drive to collect all army rifles and guns collected

Space, Location, Road Advantages

Medina County landowners will vote on the establishment of a Medina County Soil Conservation District on Tuesday, Sept. 23, according to an announcement this week from Ferd Rock, election manager.

In the election at least two thirds of the votes must be in favor of the district, and a large percentage of the electorate must actually go to the polls and vote in order to prove a lively interest. A light vote cannot pass the issue, even though unanimous, for it would signify a lack of interest.

County Agent C. M. Merritt will confer with soil experts at Texas A. and M. Sept. 1-6, and on his return there will be a series of educational meetings designed to acquaint the people with the workings of such a district. Guests from other soil conservation projects will be invited to speak and answer questions.

Merritt said there will be at least three such meetings, and possibly as many as six, depending on how much time there is. Times and places of the meetings will be announced through The Anvil Herald.

If the election is favorable, the county will be divided into five districts, each with a representative on the county board. The board will then start the task of mapping out the program.

Fire Destroys E. R. Taylor Mill

Dust explosion was blamed for a fire a few weeks ago that destroyed the Taylor Commercial Feed Store and adjacent feed manufacturing mill at Socorro, New Mexico, owned by E. R. Taylor, son of R. J. Taylor of Hondo. Entire stock of the store and mill, as well as all records, went up in flames, and damages were estimated at over $20,000 not including the building which was also destroyed.

Taylor said the fire would keep him out of business for an indeterminate period, although he expects to resume operations there eventually. He started in the feed business there in 1941. The burned mill was the only feed mill operating in Socorro and Catron counties.

Rodeo, Dance At Devine

DEVINE — The Killough-Rogers Post of the American Legion and the Medina Valley Rodeo Association will stage a big rodeo and street dance on Labor Day.

All Devine business houses have agreed to close up on this day, and a large crowd is expected at the all day affair. There will be rodeos at 2:00 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m., followed by a street dance at 10 p.m. which is expected to last until 1 a.m.

FLOWER SHOP SOLD FOR BEAUTY PARLOR

Miss Lucille Newton sold The Flower Shop this week to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ward, and the Wards are already starting work to prepare the building for a beauty shop.

The Wards, who operate Darlene's Beauty Shop, will move their business to the new location as soon as possible.

Miss Newton will discontinue her business on September 1.

by ex-soldiers or sailors. The FBI, according to Dill, is hot on the trail of all such weapons and has an accurate list of all in Uvalde County who own service weapons. Uvaldeans are baffled at how the bureau got the information and most of them are turning in their weapons.

"The heat is on now," Dill warned, "but they'll overlook it if the guns come in ahead of time. However if anyone tries to hold out, they will be prosecuted to the limit."

Here in Hondo, best way to turn in U. S. weapons is to "give them to a friend who immediately will forget who gave it to him," and let him turn it in to the sheriff or one of the servicemen's organizations. The FBI is not after souvenir weapons that are not G. I.

SWING OF TEXAS MARKETS

Lower prices for cotton and some livestock and vegetables marred otherwise steady to strong prices for southwest farm products last week, according to the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Most grains advanced steadily last week, influenced by continued dry weather in much of the corn belt, and by anticipated large export requirements of wheat. No. 1 hard ordinary wheat reached $2.50 per bushel Friday at Fort Worth and Galveston and white corn rose to $3.05 top $3.09. No. 2 milo sold at $3.42 to $3.47 per 100 pounds. Oats gained some, but yellow corn and barley changed little.

New crop rough rice advanced $1 per barrel last week under active demand. In irregular feed markets, cottonseed meal sold $5 to $8 higher, while bran and shorts lost $3 to $5. Alfalfa and Johnson grass hays rose to higher levels in the southwest. Showers slowed South Texas peanut harvest, but other areas need rain. Mohair contracting got under way, but wool buying awaited Australian fall auctions.

Light supplies of top quality eggs sold firm to slightly higher last week, and lower grades held up fairly well. Best eggs brought from 47 to 54 cents per dozen at principal southwest markets. Poultry prices stayed about the same. Heavy hens drew 22 to 25 cents per pound at Fort Worth, and Dallas, and fryers 35 to 37.

Most cattle classes sold strong to higher last week, but grass steers and yearlings lost 50 cents to a dollar at some places, and beef cows weakened at Fort Worth and Houston. Good beef cows brought $13 to $15.50 at Houston and San Antonio, $15.50 to $17 at Fort Worth and Wichita, and up to $19 at Oklahoma City and Denver.

Hogs gained generally 25 cents to $1 or more for the week, but butcher hogs and sows dropped 25 to 50 cents.

DUNLAY NEWS

By Mrs. John Krenmueller

Our community was almost lifeless Sunday, since most everyone attended the celebration at Castroville.

Last Tuesday evening, after our news for the week had already been sent in, we had a ball game on the local diamond. Our ladies played a game of softball with a team composed of the men in and around this vicinity. The ladies proved to be real players, since they defeated the men by a large score.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lindeburg and son, Elroy went on another fishing trip last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Krenmueller and family were Sunday guests with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Neuman and family of Hondo. Betty Neuman who had been spending the week with C. J. Krenmueller returned home with them and Virgil Krenmueller came back after spending the week with Fay Neil Neuman.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Steidle were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Steidle on Sunday, and also attended the celebration at Castroville.

Mr. A. C. Roeder, proprietor of the Dunlay Sales Station had the misfortune to hurt his ankle in a fall as he slipped on a board after the rain at Castroville Sunday. It was necessary to put his ankle in a cast as there were some broken bones. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Rosa Brucks of New Fountain was working at the local post office on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mummie were seen at their house one evening the past week.

Mr. John Bohlen from here and Ehme Saathoff of New Fountain made a trip to Dallas last week.

Reports are that they came back with new cars.

Our community has been receiving some of the local rains that have been falling over this county.

Folks, our news is rather scant this week. Wish to remind one and all that your correspondent would like to keep this column going so let's have that news.

SELECT LAYING BIRDS CAREFULLY

There is no place in the laying house for an unprofitable egg producer. Such birds will only consume valuable feed and take up room needed by their more prolific sisters — without paying for their keep.

Pick Good Producers

The type of bird to select is one which will come into production early, will maintain a good laying record throughout the winter, and will continue to lay well into the summer. There is no assurance that every pullet you select will equal this standard. However, there are certain markings and body characteristics which are usually reliable indicators of a bird's capacity for laying. Likewise, the poor laying types have certain characteristics which brand them as unprofitable producers.

The birds you will want to keep are those with well developed heads, long broad backs, long keel bones, and fleshy breasts.

Cull 'Loafers'

After pullets have been housed and the flock has reached about 25 per cent production, begin culling the poor layers. Here are some of the tell-tale markings to look for:

PIGMENTATION — Non-layers of yellow-skinned breeds have yellow pigment in the beak, shanks, vent, eye ring and sometimes the ear lobes. These parts are bleached or faded if the bird is a good producer.

COMB CHANGES — The laying bird's comb and wattles are shrunken and scaly. In contrast, the good layer has waxy, red, and full comb and wattles.

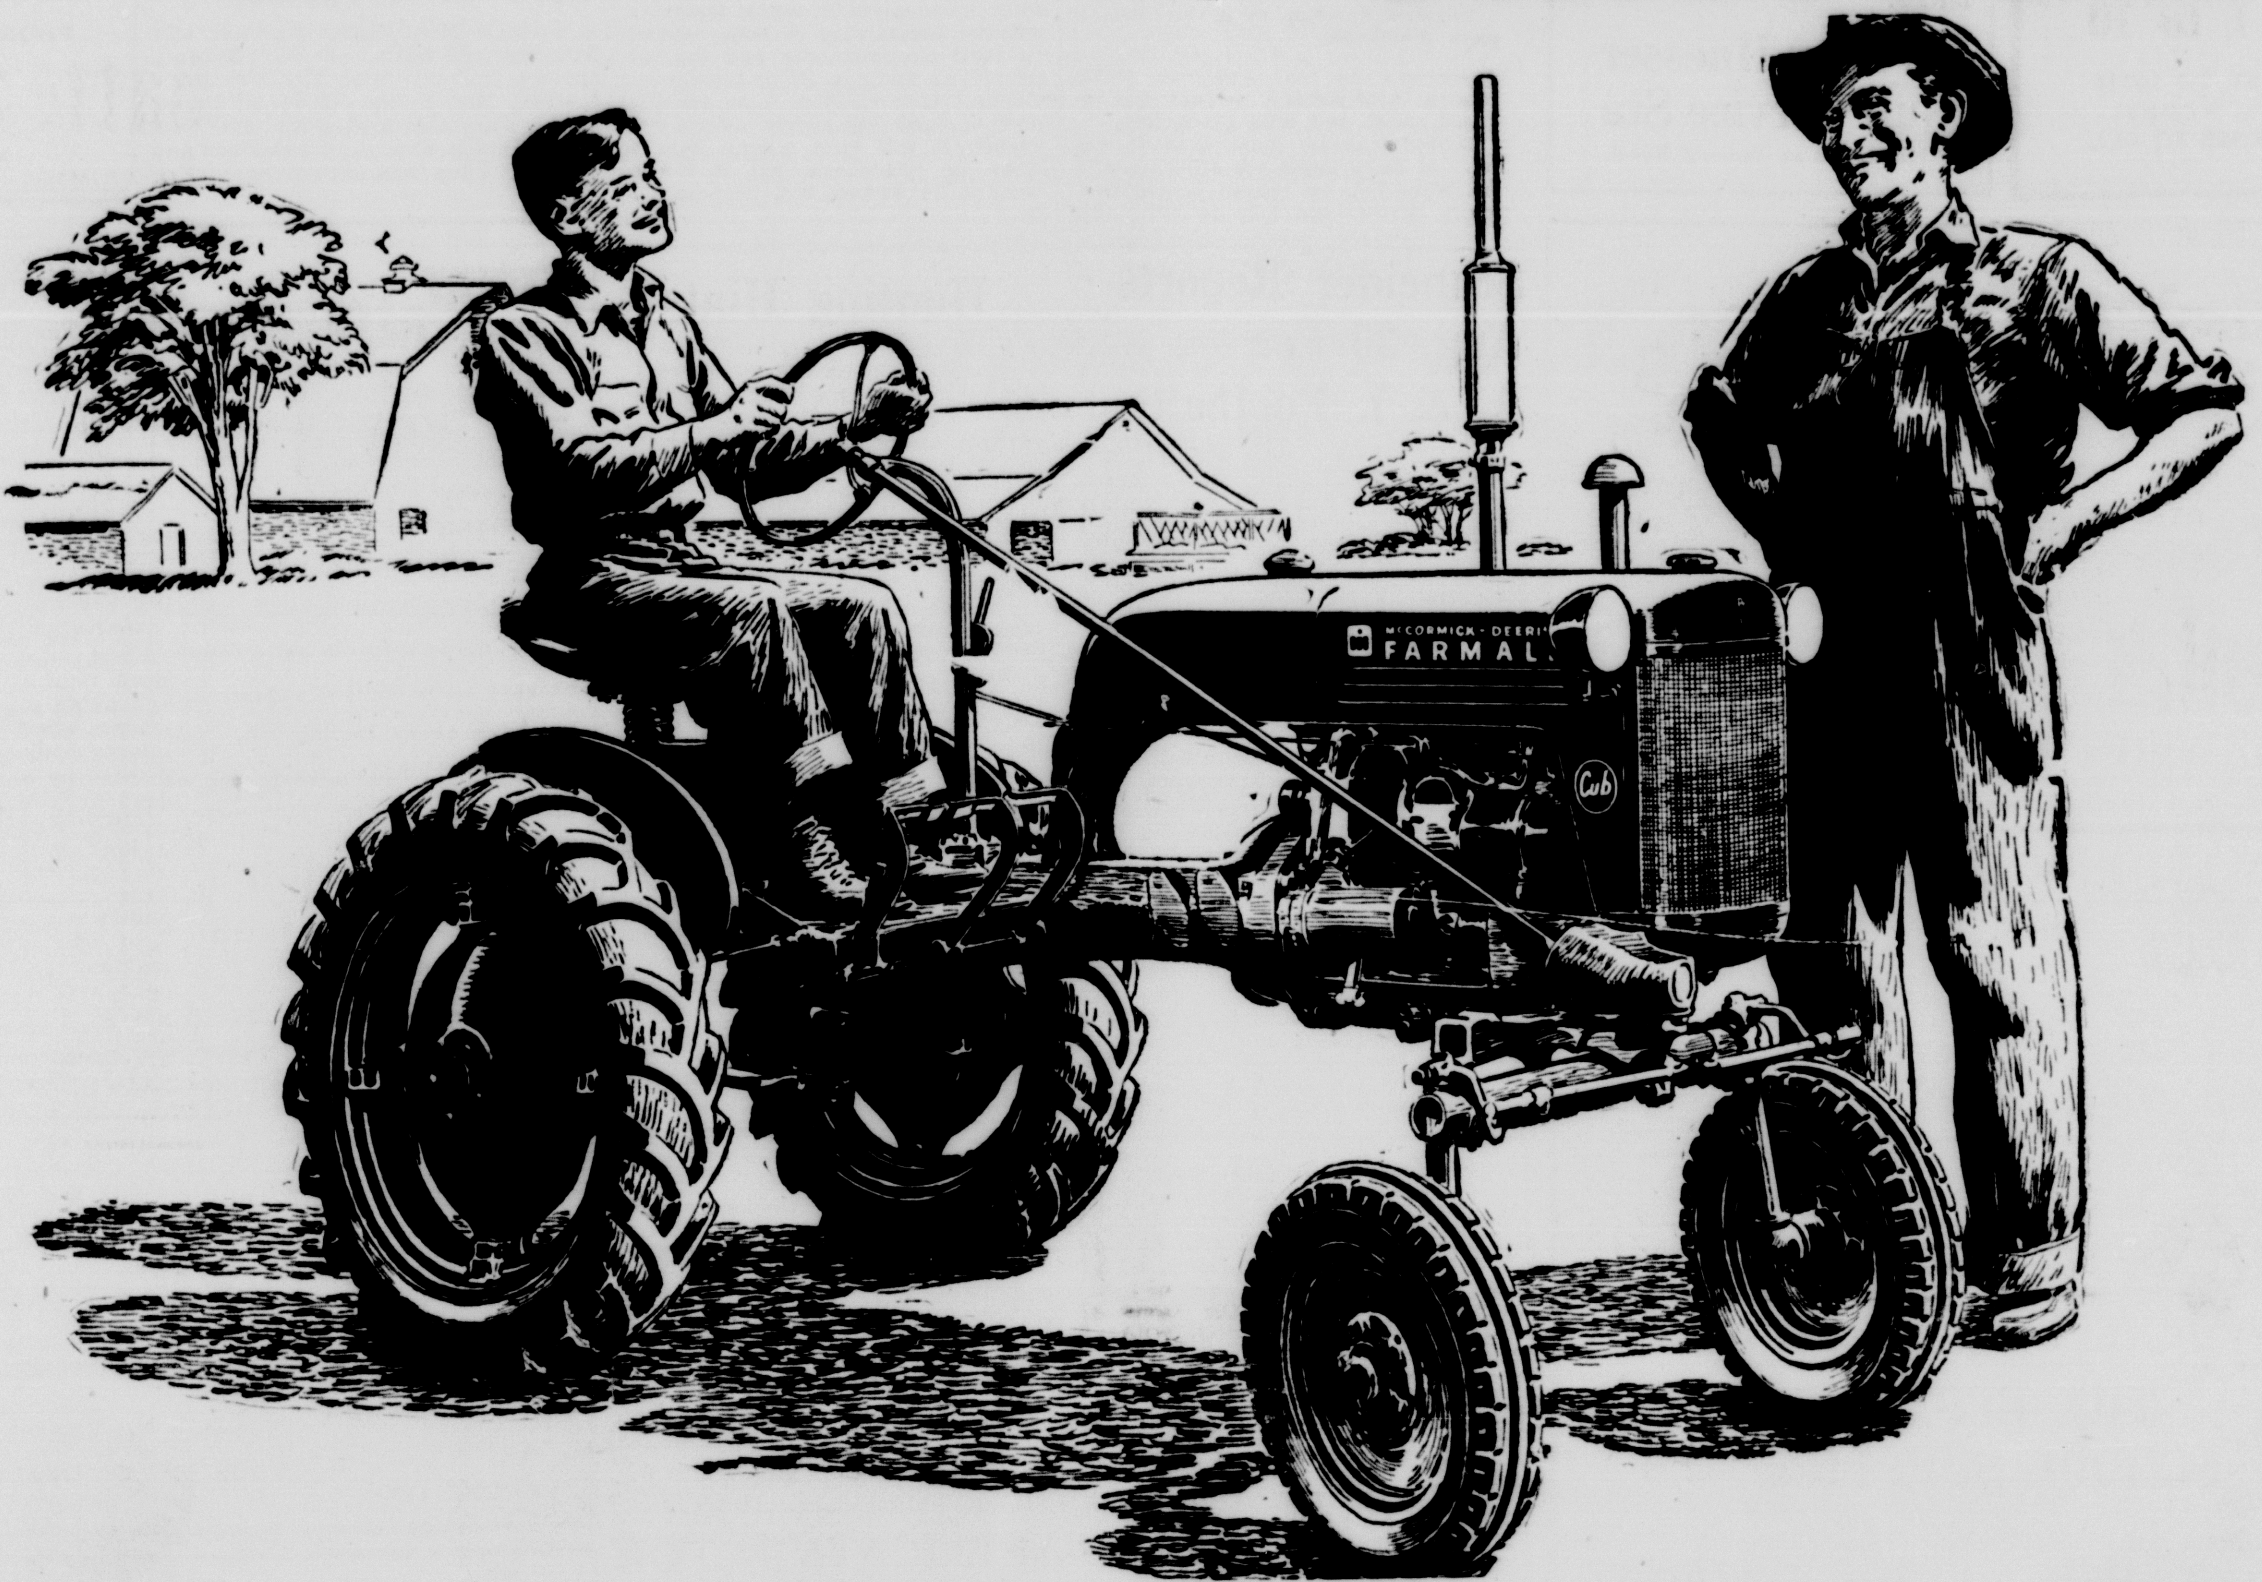

BODY CHARACTERISTICS — Poor layer's pubic bones are quite close together. The good producer's pubic bones are two to three fingers apart. The good layer has a large body capacity, which is indicated by a long broad back and deep body cavity.

GENERAL POINTERS — Hens in high production are active, full of pep, and yet easy to handle. They are strong feeders, and their bodies make maximum use of all feed consumed to produce the maximum number of eggs. The poor layer is relatively inactive and not so alert and busy. Her eyes are dull and sunken, her feathers are loose, and her skin is coarse and dry, underlaid with fat.

diseases alone cost American cattle raisers $150,000,000 a year in reduced meat and milk production. In some areas, more than 25 per cent of dairy herds are afflicted with mastitis. Yet, by proved precautions, every farmer can help to bring this disease under control and add greatly to his milk production and profits. Mastitis is a disease of the udder. It can be caused either by udder injuries or by germs. Injuries may be largely prevented by providing large enough stalls, good bedding and clean floors. The germ form of the disease may be transmitted from one cow to another, — often on the hands of milkers. Good sanitation is one answer, coupled with scientific veterinary treatment, including udder infusions. Affected cows should be placed at the end of the milking line, and treatment of these cows should be started as soon as the disease is detected.

Brucellosis is an even more difficult problem, causing shy breeding, failures and abortions. Calfhood vaccination has been used widely, and adult vaccination in some instances, but the advisability of both depends on local circumstances and the veterinarian's findings. Blood-testing and elimination of reactors is an essential part of most brucellosis control programs. It will take a long fight to clear up brucellosis, but it can be won, if all owners will cooperate in it.

LT. VERNON STANSBURY RECEIVES PROMOTION

LADD FIELD, Fairbanks, Alaska—Second Lt. Vernon Stansbury has been promoted to the rank of first Lt. it was recently announced by the commanding officer of the 46th Reconnaissance Squadron (very long range) photographic.

The promotion came as a result of Lt. Stansbury's important work as a flight engineer on the B-29's with which the AAF have been making intensive studies of weather and photomapping in Alaska during the past winter.

Lt. Stansbury was assigned to this farthest North Army Air Base from Salina, Kansas, in July of last year. His 5 years of service have been spent in Washington, Florida, Mississippi, Michigan, Texas, Kansas, and now in Alaska.

A native of Omak, Washington, Lt. Stansbury is the husband of the former Miss Jeanice Reiber of D'Hanis.

Schneider Reports

Aug. 30 For
A. & I. Football

KINGSVILLE — Football at Texas A & I will get officially under way Saturday, Aug. 30 when Coach Dewey Mayhew expects to issue equipment to some 60 candidates for places on the 1947 squad including letterman Cyril Schneider, end, of Devine.

Mayhew expects about 11 lettermen, six experienced squadmen, and some 25 outstanding high school stars among the aspirants checking in here next week.

First game of the season will bring Howard Payne to Kingsville the night of Sept. 20. "We expect to be ready for this game, because the boys have been keeping in shape by playing baseball, tennis, and other sports, and they will start the season Sept. 1 in condition," Coach Mayhew said.

Tackle and guard spots will be the worst weaknesses on the Javelina squad. Only one letterman for each of those spots is returning, and one man at center. At ends and in the backfield, lettermen will back up lettermen, and numerous promising reserves are on tap.

WE WILL OFFER THIS NEW SAVINGS PLAN BEGINNING SEPT. 2, 1947. WE WILL HAVE FOR YOUR INSPECTION VARIOUS TYPES OF BEEF SEPTEMBER 2ND.

IN VIEW OF THE FACT THAT THE COST OF MEAT HAS INCREASED TO THE POINT THAT A WHOLE CALF IS TOO MUCH INVESTMENT FOR THE AVERAGE FAMILY TO BUY AT ONE TIME, WE BELIEVE THAT 50% OF OUR CUSTOMERS ARE NOW BUYING THEIR MEAT FROM THE RETAIL MARKET. THIS APPEARS TO CUT DOWN THE MEAT BILL, HOWEVER, IN THE LONG RUN THE MEAT BOUGHT IN THIS WAY ACTUALLY COSTS AT LEAST 20% MORE.

AS WE ARE HERE TO SERVE OUR LOCKER RENTERS AND SAVE THEM MONEY ON THEIR MEAT AND PRODUCE BILLS, WE WILL SELL HALF OR QUARTER OF CALF AT COST PRICE PLUS PROCESSING TO THE LOCKER. WE ESTIMATE THE AVERAGE COST OF "A" GRADE CALVES WILL BE APPROXIMATELY 35c PER POUND. OUR PRICES WILL BE REASONABLE ENOUGH FOR THE RANCHMAN TO SEND HIS CALVES TO MARKET AND PURCHASE THE CUT OF MEAT HE DESIRES AT A SAVING OF 4 TO 5%.

THIS PLAN IS ALSO FOR THE DEEP FREEZE OWNER. AS AN ADDED ATTRACTION WE ARE NOW HANDLING PASTEURIZED DAIRY PRODUCTS AND A WIDE VARIETY OF LUNCHEON MEATS AND LOAVES.

FIELD FORAGE HARVESTER

This new field forage harvester cuts, chops and delivers to truck or trailer wagon, all types of forage — corn, sorghum and other row crops, legumes and grasses. Ideal for making grass silage.

Considerable hard hand labor is saved through the use of this machine. It dispenses with the need for picking up heavy green bundles of row crop, loading them on a wagon and again pitching them into a stationary silo filler.

Tractor Mounted, digs 9 inch hole 36 inches deep while you are thinking about getting started with a spade. Self retracting, fits any tractor.

90 League Standings Tangled

Highway 90 League standings remained tangled Wednesday of this week as no dates had been announced for the Castroville-LaCoste game, rained out Sunday, which will determine whether Castro sits squeezed into the second place seat with D'Hanis necessitating a second-place playoff before the league championship playoff or whether the fourth place tie between Quihi and Rio Medina will be swelled to a three-way tie with a LaCoste victory over Castroville.

Only thing certain is that Hondo will start a three game series with either Castro or D'Hanis for the championship this Sunday and it will be Quihi vs. Rio pending the outcome of the LaCoste-Castro game, which will add a complication either at the second place slot or the fourth.

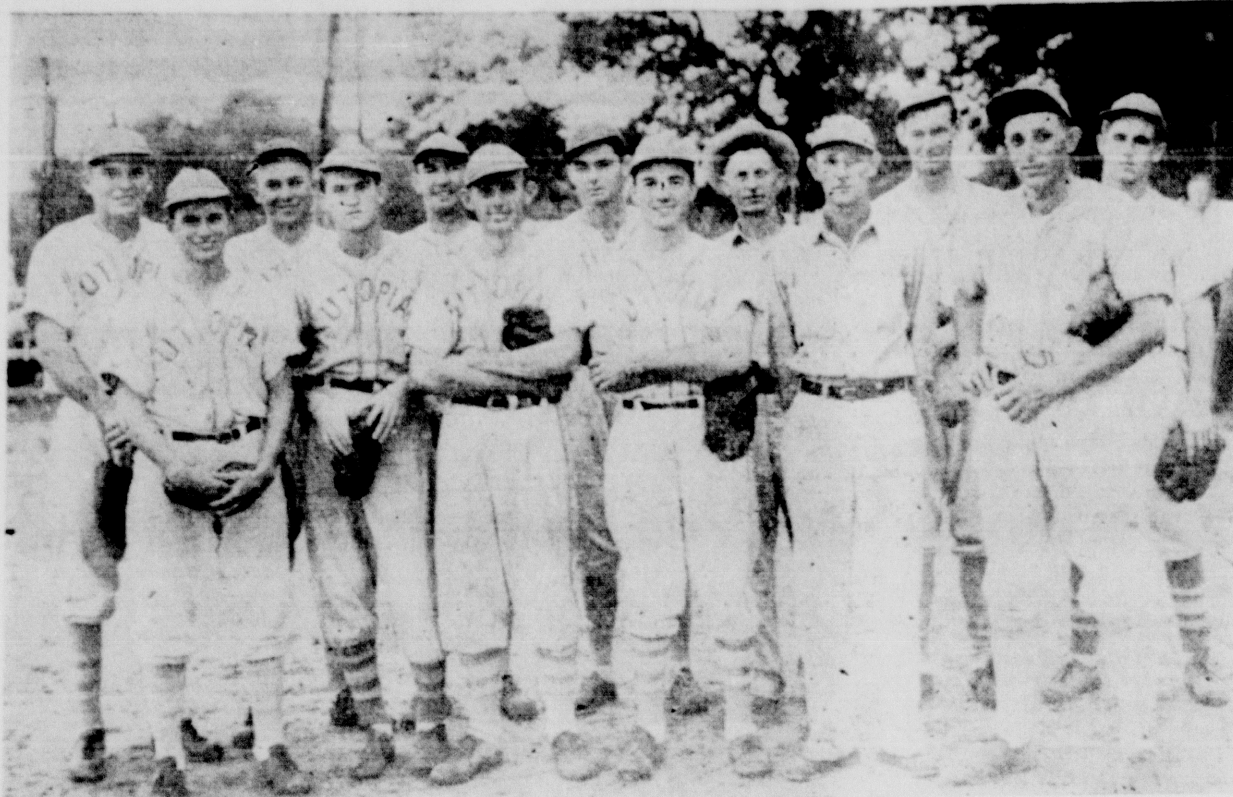

HONDO 14, D'HANIS 13
Hondo fans wondered often if they and the umpire were watching the same game last Sunday at D'Hanis, but forgave him his trespasses when Taylor's long ninth inning homer over the center field wall tied up the score and the Lions managed to sneak over another tally for a narrow victory.

The Lions crashed six homers out of the D'Hanis park. Taylor knocked two, and one each for Parsons, Schuehle, Sadler and Embrey. Sadler added a double to the Hondo attack. The D'Hanis 16-hit offensive featured two homers, by Hom. Nester and Biry, triples by J. Finger and E. Koch, and a double by Bill Rothe.

Embrey drove himself into the ground and sweated a big puddle at the mound for five innings after relieving Taylor in the third. But every D'Hanis man was a champion last Sunday and there was no holding them until J. E. Boon came in in the eighth with his little whiff-ball that isn't there.

The Lions had to be a team of champion champs, and proved that they were. D'Hanis jumped off to an early lead and kept it til the ninth, every time the Lions scored a couple and pulled up within striking distance the Tigers rapped out a few more and pulled farther away. But the Lions batting order hadn't a weak

TEAM OF THE WEEK: UTOPIA

Utopia ended up in last place after a battle of attrition. Left to right are J. Porter, S. Mauldin, with Quihi last Sunday, but none of the top teams V. Porter, McClain, Amman, Chism, Boyce, H. ever went into the fray with overconfidence because Mauldin, Kraut, Chaney (Mgr.), Tampke, Rieber Utopia could be tough, and was on a number of and Redding.

spot in it, so any hit was the start of a rally.

QUIHI 13, UTOPIA 5
A rousing start in the mud and drizzle turned into a pretty sorry exhibition of sportsmanship at Utopia where Quihi nearly had to take to the hills to escape with their scalps still attached last Sunday.

Of the three hours playing time at least an hour was spent in argument in which even the ump, who should maintain peace, tried to bean a Quihi player with a baseball and pretty near beamed some of the spectators.

Quihi got away with a substantial victory and a chance to play Rio Medina for fourth place in the standings while F. Hartman held the Utopians to eight hits. Redding, Tampke and Mauldin allowed 14 hits to the Quihimen. Only extra base hits were doubles by Biediger, Schott and H. Bohlen, all for Quihi.

Taylor Chooses Texas Aggies

After months of being wooed and courted by Rice, Tulane, A. and M. and a number of other schools, the bashful football groom Blanton Taylor this week turned down all other suitors with a sweet "I do" cooed in the eager ear of Coach Homer Sinton of Texas A. and M.

The Hondo Owl backfield ace, after two seasons and of the region for the South lineup for the recent Texas All-Star football game in El Paso, was snatched practically from the arms of Jess Neely of Rice.

Or so it looked from here. Blanton himself seemed to be Rice throughout the summer, as he kept strictly mum on the subject when any listening ears were around. At A. and M. he will join forces with big Stan Hollmig who did much of the important booting for the Aggies last year as a freshman.

For the new season are here. They are made up in School Colors and bear the playing schedule. Be a Team Booster and get your sticker on your car NOW!

WE READ IN THE PAPERS:

Where the highway experts are coming around to "our" way of thinking — that by-passing a city — and that applies to little cities as well as big ones — is the wrong policy.

State Chairman John Redditt of the Highway Commission is quoted as follows:

"The trend in highway construction is to make expressways through large cities instead of the old highway system. Statistics prove, he noted, that average travelers want to go through not around, San Antonio, Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth and other large cities."

And ditto for Hondo!

It is evident that Columnist Samuel B. Pettengill doesn't like President Truman's veto of the tax reduction bill, and not without reason. Thinks Mr. Pettengill:

"As practically all taxes are price-increases ordered by government, the task of reducing prices is now impossible. So look for continued inflation."

But some day Congress and the (See FLETCHER, last page)

INTERESTING NEWS

affecting Highway 173 is contained in a recent news dispatch emanating from Austin.

According to the State Highway Department, a traffic survey taken in June showed that in a normal day's traffic 545 vehicles travel from San Antonio to Corpus Christi by way of U. S. 281 and State 9 while only 162 used U. S. Highway 181 through Karnes City and Beeville. The reason for this is plain to be seen. While both highways are standard and equally well kept, the Karnes City-Beeville route is more circuitous and, therefore, a greater distance than the more direct route by Pleasanton, Three Rivers and Mathis.

U. S. Highway 281 and State Highway 9 leave San Antonio over the same road-way. They continue over the same road-bed to Three Rivers, where they diverge. U. S. 281 continuing in a southerly direction to the Rio Grande Valley while State 9 continues on to a terminus in Corpus Christi. The planning division estimates that in another 20 years, movement by this route will increase to 981 vehicles daily and on that basis recommend "that this route (281 and 9) be improved as the (See FLETCHER, last page)

TEXAS BEAUTIES

It's a fact proven time and time again that most of the top beauties of the country, at least the ones who make a business of beauty, are from Texas. Last week's Chronicle Journal from Floresville tells of another Texas triumph.

A former Floresville girl was chosen Army Air Forces Day Queen from a field of 18 in Europe. She is Mrs. Virginia Gilbert, the former Virginia Baker of Floresville.

PEANUT PARADISE

The lowly goober comes into its own in Wilson county when the famous Peanut Festival gets under way Sept. 5 at Floresville. There will be a colorful parade with floats of all types and numerous bands in the morning, and a Farmers Program in the afternoon. Queen Tunaep VI will be crowned in the evening before the Queen's Ball.

UVALDE TRUCKERS KILLED

Two Uvaldeans were killed in truck accidents last week according to the Uvalde Leader-News. Alvin Hibdon, 29, a navy vet, suffered fatal injuries last Tuesday when the large trailer section of his truck toppled over on him while he was fixing a flat. Frank Landrum, 74, was driving a pickup truck in the valley when his vehicle collided with another truck injuring 24 persons and killing Landrum. Landrum had moved to Raymondville from Uvalde a short time ago.

LIGHTNING GETS AROUND

A bolt of lightning was after Mrs. E. E. Heye of Uvalde last week. When she wouldn't come outside, it went right into her rock house to get her and knock her down.

According to the Leader-News, the bolt struck the rock house on the southeast corner, knocking down, but not injuring, Mrs. Heye. It left a small crack in the house wall.

RUBEN L. FASELER GRADUATES AT S. W. TEXAS COLLEGE

SAN MARCOS — Ruben L. Faseler of Yancey was among 160 students receiving bachelors and masters degrees at summer graduation exercises held at Southwest Texas State College Friday night, Aug. 22. President J. G. Flowers conferred the degrees. Speaker for the occasion was the Rev. A. Frank Smith, resident bishop of the Houston area of the Methodist Church. Most people, here in Medina County or elsewhere, regard themselves as amateur psychologists, but when it comes to applying simple psychology to business we fall short.

We may think of business as something too cold and realistic for conversation after 5 o'clock, but just try it sometime if you don't believe that to live, one must first make a living.

We all know that man is a creature of impulses. He may start out on a mission of work and end up seeking amusement, or vice versa. A lady may drive 20 miles to sell its produce and purchase supplies for the following week, but when these chores are completed the whole family may want to relax and enjoy themselves before heading homeward.

Just as likely, a trip to town for entertainment may turn into a shopping expedition.

Can that be why people pass us by to go to San Antonio for their shopping? Sure, we know all about psychology, but do we know how to use it?

In the last three weeks two huge mail order companies have sent elaborate catalogues to Hondo by the hundreds. Those catalogues cost a lot of money to print. They must pay off well.

When our money goes that far away it is gone for good. If our dollars are spent down at the corner they are just a little bit closer, and there's a good chance they will find their way back into our own pockets.

But nobody will tolerate inconvenience in their shopping. We must make it easier and more fun to shop here at home than to send letters to other towns or drive to the city and cope with its traffic.

That means easy, convenient parking, places to leave the kids for a while, entertainment available, comfort available. It means more than good business, it means a happier, healthier, homier town. Let's wake up to it.

Chorus directed by Mrs. Kathryn Verity.

Prior to the ceremony, a reception was held for the graduates, their friends and parents.

Faseler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Faseler, was awarded an M. A. degree in chemistry. He was a member of the Alpha Chi honor society.

"Anything for me?" That eager question is familiar to every mailman and postmaster in the land. They have to answer it at least a hundred times a day, but that's not surprising for everybody likes to get a message from a friend.

On all the major highways in the nation — from Maine to Florida and from New York to California — there are friendly messages all along the way, plainly addressed to any driver who will see them. The messages are short, it's true, but they are very much to the point. They say: "Steep Hill," "Curve Ahead," "Dangerous Intersection," "Railroad Crossing," "School Zone — Drive Carefully." Wise drivers read them and obey them, because they know that road signs exist for their protection and are put there as a friendly warning of hidden dangers that lie ahead.

For, as Confucius said: "If a man take no thought about what is distant, he will find sorrow near at hand."

The Hondo Volunteer Fire Department is staging their big street dance and carnival Saturday, August 30. This is the only way they have of raising money to pay the expenses of providing Hondo and the surrounding country with good fire protection. We do not have taxes for this purpose, like they have to pay in other cities.

For this reason, we feel that every property owner in particular should turn out and spend some money at this affair. There is no tax roll kept, and none of you will be missed if you do not come. But if you ever have a fire, and receive the services of several thousand dollars worth of fire equipment, you will feel a lot better about it if you have attended the firemen's carnivals.

Those few property owners who never show up when the firemen are trying to raise money will have only themselves to thank if the fire department should ever be forced to resort to taxation on the basis of property valuations.

AUTO PRICES MOVE UP

Prices have been raised from $85 to $150 on Chrysler and Plymouth cars, according to word received here by Charles Larkin, manager of Nessly's. The increases are in direct proportion to the former retail price.

SOMETHING SPECIAL...

IF YOU ARE ONE OF THE FEW PEOPLE WHO HAVE NOT BEEN READING THE HONDO ANVIL HERALD LATELY, THERE IS NO LONGER ANY REASON WHY YOU SHOULDN'T HAVE IT.

We are making it possible for every one who is interested to have a copy each week from now until the end of the year for only 50c. Yes, you read it correctly. Only 50c from now until December 31, 1947.

THE ONLY REASON WE MAKE THIS OFFER IS THAT WE WANT YOU TO ACTUALLY SIT DOWN AND READ OUR PAPER FOR THE NEXT SEVENTEEN WEEKS. IT HAS BEEN OUR EXPERIENCE THAT WHEN FOLKS SEE WHAT A NEWSPAPER BARGAIN THEY HAVE BEEN MISSING, THAT THEY WILL GENERALLY SIGN UP FOR A YEAR WHEN THEIR SPECIAL OFFER TIME RUNS OUT.

You get more for your money if you act right now. By mailing in the coupon and your fifty cents today, you will receive a total of eighteen weeks including this week's issue.

EVERY WEEK THAT YOU PUT IT OFF, YOU LOSE ONE PAPER THAT YOU WOULD OTHERWISE HAVE GOTTEN. THE OFFER EXPIRES SEPTEMBER 30, 1947, AND NO PAPERS WILL BE SENT UNDER THE TERMS OF THIS SPECIAL OFFER TO ANYONE LIVING OUTSIDE MEDINA COUNTY UNLESS THEY LIVE ON A MAIL ROUTE THAT STARTS FROM MEDINA COUNTY OR A MAIL ROUTE THAT COMES INTO MEDINA COUNTY AT SOME POINT, SUCH AS THE SAN ANTONIO ROUTES 4 AND 9. THE REASON FOR THIS IS THAT WE PAY EXTRA POSTAGE ON ALL PAPERS GOING OUTSIDE THE COUNTY.

GOOD ONLY UNTIL SEPTEMBER 30, 1947

This coupon and 50c entitles the person whose name is filled in below to a special introductory subscription to The Hondo Anvil Herald, running from this date to December 31, 1947.

After-Dark Accident Toll Is Three Times Higher, Statistics Show; More Care Necessary

When you drive at night, be at least three times as careful, because night driving is more than three times as dangerous as in the daytime.
Traffic during hours of darkness is less than half as heavy as by daylight, yet produces about 60 per cent of the deaths.

In addition to the darkness itself, drivers and pedestrians are tired at the end of the day and often in a hurry to get home; fatigue, hurry, and approaching darkness make a bad combination. Later, many drive away from a tavern or a party with too much alcohol in their systems;
and alcohol and darkness are another bad combination.

If these accident causes did not exist, if the casualty rate were no higher by night than by day, 14,000 deaths and about 400,000 injuries would have been saved last year.
What can be done about it?

Modern street lighting, designed to throw the light on the pavement, not on the tree tops or in your bedroom window, is a "must" on busy streets.
Similar highway lighting, on one section of highway near San Francisco, cut night traffic deaths from nine to four per year. Such lighting should be installed at highway locations with a bad night accident record and on longer stretches where traffic is heavy enough to justify the cost.

Highway departments can further help the night driver by providing signs that can be seen in the dark, particularly stop signs and those indicating curves, turns, or railroad crossings.

Modern headlamps of the "sealed beam" type provide maximum light on the roadway with minimum glare to the eyes — but only if properly used. So, as with most traffic problems, safe driving at night is mostly up to the driver.

First, we must see that our headlamps are in good condition. Motorists are fortunate who live in a state or a city having a well administered system of periodic vehicle inspection.
In any case, the prudent driver will watch his lights carefully for any sign that they are aimed too high or too low, or that an over-age bulb, dirty lens or tarnished reflector is giving him less light than he needs.
Even with no visible sign of trouble a periodic check of headlamps — and of the entire car — by a competent serviceman is a good investment.

Then, proper use is just as important. Always change to the lower beam when meeting another car.
That's what you want the other fellow to do, isn't it?

Co-ordinated efforts of a great army of volunteer workers are stemming the tide of soil erosion in the United States.

A movement which began in the 1930's is beginning to show results, as the estimated annual loss of 3,000,000,000 tons of top soil is cut year by year. There are no figures to show just how much less of this country's precious food-growing earth is washing into the Atlantic, the Gulf of Mexico, and the Pacific, but any person driving along the country roads can see for himself what is happening.

More and more "conservation farms" are appearing, in contrast to the all too familiar exploited farms, with their raw-earth gullies and dried out springs.

You can tell a conservation farm by its outward appearance. Here are fields plowed in curves, which follow the contours of the hills so the water is held back until it sinks gently into the earth. Here are ponds built to hold back water for the dry season; grass-covered gullies that are building up instead of eroding; permanent pastures on slopes that are building up instead of eroding; mulch-covered winter fields that can stand torrential rains and not give up their cover of soil.

Long Way To Go

There still is a long way to go before this nation's soil is secure. A survey made last summer showed that some 500,000 farms had acre-by-acre conservation plans. Farm and ranch land so treated totaled more than 85,000,000 acres. But this is still only about one-fifth of the good crop land in the United States.

Many persons have had a part in bringing the soil conservation movement to its present flourishing state.

Washington, Jefferson, and other early patriots warned of the danger of erosion, although most farmers of their time thought the soil inexhaustible. These leaders even practiced some of the best current soil conservation practices. But they did not know how to get the mass of farmers to follow their examples.

In more recent years the Cooperative Extension Service, working through county agents of farm advisers, has done a mighty educational work in teaching farmers how to save their soil. They have carried on experiments in the use of crop rotation, soil-building crops, conservation engineering, etc., which have given many farmers visual lessons in the cash value of soil improvement work. The famous Morrow Plots at the University of Illinois, established in 1876 and cultivated continuously ever since, are an example of this kind of work.

Some of the plots on the Illinois campus have been planted with one soil-depleting crop — corn — ever since their establishment. Others have had rotations of different kinds. Some have had no soil treatment, others have been given fertilizers. The yields are now conspicuously in favor of the plots which have had both rotation and soil treatment. The results are well known to farmers in this area and have had their influence upon farm practice.

Youths Help

Four-H Club work likewise has done much to help establish conservation farming. Many a boy has shown his father how to terrace his hilly, eroding land, and has helped him to do it or has done it for him.

But education can go just so far. In a work of this kind, where a considerable amount of expense is involved and engineering knowledge is needed, something more than education is required.

Medina County landowners will be faced in a few weeks with an election for the establishment of a soil conservation district, an election in which a full two thirds of the land owners and adult members of their families must vote in favor if the district is to go through.

If such a district is established, depending largely on results of the election, county farmers and ranchers will work up the program themselves and apply it themselves, with the most important and most necessary problems being taken up first.

One important phase of the program will be the matter of terracing to prevent erosion and to get the most out of what water falls. In Medina County, C. M. Merritt, County Agent, estimates that nearly 85 per cent of eroded farms, or farms with slopes that are terraced, are already practicing this method with varying degrees of effectiveness. Many are in doubt as to the value of terracing besides the 15 per cent or more who do not practice it, and for the benefit of all Medina County farmers The Anvil Herald has obtained the following material, with illustration, from the Uvalde Leader-News, showing in actual figures the effect of terracing that is planned and controlled:

By Richard S. Senter
Soil Conservation Service

The recent local rains of 5.03 inches and 2.17 inches on the ranch of John A. Monagin, Chairman, Board of Supervisors of the Nueces-Frio-Sabinal Soil Conservation District were held on the ground and 3 inches of added water of the first 5 inches from 450 acres was diverted on 175 acres of the 250 acre field shown in the diagram. Although the water diversion system was not completed all the rain falling on the land plus 2 to 7 inches of the diverted water was held on the land giving a total of 7 to 14 inches of water actually absorbed in this field.

This added 2 to 7 inches varied this much due to the water spreading system being incompletely since most of the water was caught and held in the lower 5 terraces. The manner in which the water is to be spread is shown in the diagram of the terraced field. The 450 acres pasture land drains onto the Diversion terraces which carries the water into a flat on the pasture. One third is picked up in a ditch at the end of the diversion terrace and carried the full length of three terraces. This is repeated twice more. Of the 5 inch rain a total of 1,350 acre inches ran off the pasture on the field. With the spreader system complete less than 1-5 of this water would have been lost. As it was, approximately 1-3 was lost off the field. This system will hold on the average, some 30-60 per cent of all outside run off water.

To find out how much water ran off this pasture on the field and how much water was held on the field Monagin made numerous checks which follow: Water was running over 100 yards wide and 24 inches deep at the deepest points at the outlet end of the Diversion terrace. It penetrated 12 to 14 inches deep on the poor range condition pasture indicating 2 inches absorbed. On good cover pasture it penetrated 24 to 30 inches deep while on other pastures of the same soil as the field it only penetrated 6 inches deep.

In the field it penetrated 12 to 72 and more inches deep. This is 6 to 12 inches or more absorbed as in this soil one inch will penetrate some 6 inches deep.

Maximum using and re-using of all available rainfall is one of the many conservation practices used on this land for its proper treatment. Others are contour cultivation, crop rotation, applying phosphate, planting of Hubam clover on a trial basis and the application of all available crop residues to keep up the physical condition of the soil. This complete conservation program of proper land use is one of the prime objectives of the Supervisors of the Nueces-Frio-Sabinal Soil Conservation District. Many other examples will be forthcoming, reducing the gamble of farming.

Two Government agencies have been set up to stimulate this essential work. These are the Field Service of the Production and Marketing Administration and the Soil Conservation Service. They are distinct agencies, but their functions are often confused. The Field Service makes payments to farmers for carrying out soil-building and soil-conserving practices, but does not provide technical guidance.

The Soil Conservation Service, on the other hand, goes into the farmer's fields, studies his croplands and pastures, and shows him how he can farm to better advantage and with less loss of top-soil. There has been some talk in favor of merging the two, but many farmers think it important that the Soil Conservation Service maintain its independent status. The Soil Conservation Service was formed for the express purpose of saving the soil, in contrast to the Field Service which had the dual purpose of soil conservation and surplus control.

The districts are a new subunit of government, formed by farmer initiative and having officers elected by farmers. Members of these districts can apply to technicians of the Soil Conservation Service for aid and get a land-use and land-protection blueprint for their farms, together with assistance in carrying out the recommended practices. The striking thing about them is that they are rapidly spreading over the United States and promise to do just what they were established to do — conserve the soil.

Mrs. Wheeler Is A. & I. Graduate

KINGSVILLE — Mrs. Hulda Katherine Wheeler from Hondo received the Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education at the summer commencement exercises at Texas A & I College Friday night. Eighty-eight degrees were conferred in the ceremony marking the end of the 1947 summer session. Twenty-one of these were Master's degrees, 67 were Bachelor's. This is the largest number of Master's ever granted at a single commencement, and one of the largest graduating classes in the history of the college. The commencement address was given by Senator Rogers Kelley. President E. N. Jones conferred the degrees. Acting Dean W. A. Rasco presented the Bachelor candidates and Dr. J. L. Nierman, chairman of the graduate council, presented the candidates for Master's degrees.

Fertilized and limed pastures produced three times as much beef as unfertilized pastures in recent Florida experiments. Some fertilized pastures produced at the rate of a ton a year.

COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS—Joe Allen Braden, honor graduate of Hondo High school last spring, will enter Texas A & M College next month as an Opportunity Award winner, one of 25 Texas high school graduates chosen this year to receive four-year scholarships at Aggieland.

Having chosen agriculture as his major course of study, Braden was awarded one of six special agricultural scholarships sponsored by Jesse H. Jones, Houston capitalist.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Braden, who farm in Medina county near Hondo, Joe Allen held a scholastic average of 90.72 in four years at Hondo High, and during that time participated in football four seasons, was editor of his school yearbook, and served as president and secretary of his F. F. A. chapter.

During his spare time he has engaged in construction work, worked as a postal clerk and movie projectionist and raised his own cattle.

Our sincere advice is to keep your terminal leave bonds if you can possibly get along without cashing them.

IF YOU WISH TO CASH YOUR TERMINAL LEAVE BONDS NOW, HERE IS THE PROCEDURE.

- 1) Do not sign the bonds at home: they must be signed in the presence of our personnel; otherwise we cannot pay the same.
- 2) The bonds are payable to the holder whose name is inscribed on the bond only, so do not send some one else to cash the bond for you.
- 3) Positive identification is necessary. If you are not known to our personnel, bring some one along who is known to us, and who can identify you. The U. S. Government says that a Driver License is not sufficient identification.
- 4) Bonds must be signed in ink exactly as the name appears on the face thereof; also the present address must be written in the proper place on the back of the bond
- 5) If you do not need the money, don't cash the bonds. They may be cashed at any time after Sept. 2, 1947, and bear 2 1/2 % interest from date of issue.
- 6) DO NOT FOLD OR CRUSH THE BONDS.

The way ahead seemed clear. In a moment of careless relaxation the driver swung his eyes from the road. In that same moment a ball bounced into the street — after it ran a little child. It was only a brief moment, but long enough for a lifetime of regret.

Last year more than 3,500 American children under the age of 14 were killed by automobiles, 160,000 were injured. This State, in some degree, contributed to that toll.

With school days here again, child casualties will rise unless every individual driver makes it his self-appointed responsibility to safeguard these young lives from harm.

When driving through school zones—and streets where children are at play—use extreme caution. Always be ready for split-second action, even though moving at moderate speed. Anticipate the unexpected.

There's no indemnity that can restore a human life. If, because of one careless act of yours, a child died or its young body were maimed—could you ever forget?

Cox Advises Pre-School Year Physical Check

School days will soon be here again. Thousands of Texas boys and girls and teachers will be returning to the schools. Each child entering school should be as free as possible of any physical defects which can be corrected. The earlier these are corrected the better chance the child has for academic progress and for good social and emotional development, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox State Health Officer.

August is the time for a complete medical and dental check-up. Eyes, ears, nose, throat, and teeth should be carefully examined by the family doctor and dentist, and all remediable defects corrected. If such defects are neglected, they may result in serious damage to growth and development.

Dental corrections often take time, but a person is repaid many times over for good dental care. Healthy teeth lend attractiveness to the personal appearance, enable thorough chewing of food, and promote general good health.

In schoolrooms, children expose each other to many communicable diseases, especially the common cold and diseases such as measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and diphtheria. Protect the child from diphtheria and whooping cough, as well as smallpox, by safe and dependable immunization.

Parents, see that your child has complete protective treatment against preventable diseases; a clean healthy throat and mouth; the best possible vision and hearing; adequate diet, sleep and rest to build up resistance against disease. It will pay good dividends, and your child will be READY FOR SCHOOL.

Friends of The Anvil Herald:

We left San Antonio a week ago today and left Detroit in our new car Friday morning. We attended church Sunday at Lancaster, N. Y. just out of Buffalo. We drove on to New York City yesterday via Jersey City, N. J. and came through the Holland Tunnel under the river for a mile and a half, then the Elevated Skyway to 54th and back down here to 42nd St. to our hotel — surely glad to get into our room after some 70 miles through New Jersey in four lane fast traffic. Over three hours after we came to the city limits before we reached the hotel.

Mrs. Thomas is attending Sessions, luncheons, etc. arranged by Delta Kappa Gamma Convention where she represents Medina County Chapter.

I'm like the old man who couldn't see the forest for the trees. One can not see N. Y. C. for the buildings. This is our second visit, but in seven years we had forgotten lots.

We leave Thursday a.m. for our relatives farm up in Vermont. We come down from there to Boston and will then head for Hondo.

Surely miss our friends there for you surely don't find them any better anywhere.

No Gags on Him!

Today it's news...tomorrow it's Texas history! And through these fingers pecking deftly and expressively at typewriter keys — the fingers of hundreds of Texas newspaper men — passes the news of the hour. No dictator warps their interpretation of the news. No gagging censorship distorts the facts presented to their readers. This is the free American way...the Texas way... that leads to full public knowledge and freedom of opinion.

Yes, the newsman conserves the truth for posterity, helps the readers conserve their right to read and think as they please. So do other groups work to conserve all those things we cherish in Texas. So, too, does United Gas recognize its place in conserving Texas' resources.

Many Texas cities and towns receive natural gas service directly or indirectly through United Gas. Not until United and others built pipe line systems to link wells with markets did natural gas become of value to the producer or of importance to the people of Texas. This is practical conservation, for it gives value to this finest of fuels, stimulates industrial development, creates jobs, and benefits all the families in Texas.

Feed-making costs hit a new low when you belt up your tractor to a money-saving John Deere Feed Mill. You'll turn out more feed per hour with less power—convert your home-grown crops into more palatable feeds that go farther, require less work in handling, less storage space.

With a complete and modern line of John Deere Hammer Mills and Roughage Mills and Feed Grinders from which to choose, you can get the mill that matches your feed-making requirements and your available power.

For all-around feed making, you can't beat the John Deere No. 114-A or No. 110-A Roughage Mills and Feed Grinders—the four-in-one mills that work as a straight chopper, an ensilage cutter, a combination chopper and hammer mill, or a straight hammer mill.

Big capacity, governor-controlled traveling feed table... lawn-mower type cutterhead that cuts fast and clean... heavy-duty grinding unit... and dust-tight feed collection are outstanding features.

Kathleen Norris Says:

The All-Important Word

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

Some night ask him how that Collins matter came out, and add, "but you're such a wonderful person, Johnnie, they're lucky to get you."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"IF MY husband only was more appreciative," women say. "If only now and then he would say something in praise of what I do. It would make things so much easier!"

Women have been saying that ever since there have been wives and husbands in the world. To drudge along day after day and year after year over household tasks, sometimes tired and discouraged, sometimes confident and content, is hard. And just a few words of honest admiration and appreciation are such a bracing tonic—they stay in a woman's heart all day!

But how many women return the compliment? How many wives realize that men are as tired, as doubtful, as sensitive as they? How many take time to say to the man of the house those few phrases that equip him with the courage and strength he needs for the day?

I've never had much patience with that mushy, sentimental type of wife who tells you that she and her Douglas are as tenderly devoted today, after 17 years of marital ups and downs, as they were on their honeymoon. Such a woman is either a limp, feminine burden upon a man who carries the load for both, or she is—flatly and simply—a liar.

But just the same, a few affectionate words, from a busy man to a tired woman, or from a happy wife to an overburdened breadwinner, are magic. Don't let your life go on without this special brand of witchcraft. Middle-age—early middle-age, can grow dull and heavy without it.

Risk Losing Him.

And if you let your husband go along for months and then years with never a heartening word, you are risking the very real danger that some other woman will find it for him. If you pour his coffee with your eyes on the morning paper, answer him abstractedly or indifferently when he risks a question, you may be digging your own grave as a wife.

Some day try following him to the door with just a few cheerful words, instead of sitting on at the table, grumbling about the price of jam. Some night ask him how that Collins matter came out, and add, "but you're a wonderful person, Johnnie. They're lucky to get you." Some day tell him that you told a less fortunate wife that you and John were closer today than 10 years ago. And some day say one of those things that stay with a man, even if he never could express them himself. Something like, "I want you to know that I appreciate what you do, John. That isn't all easy for you, with today's competition, and Jackson being so ugly, and the new offices not being done." Some day say in his presence, to the children, "Do you realize that you have a good daddy?"

These are such trifles. They don't pay bills, they don't put the car in order or take up the sitting room carpet. They don't make Mother younger, or increase Dad's salary.

Inspiration and Hope.

Or do they? In the last analysis I think they do, and perform a hundred more miracles as well. The courage they put into our hearts, the lift they give to household tasks, the doors they open to new plans

SHOW APPRECIATION

So many wives complain, and with reason enough, that their husbands never tell them that they appreciate all the work, worry and sacrifices. Too many married couples tend to take each other for granted. Men seem to be dull and ungrateful, and some of them are, but the majority just don't make the effort to say the few kind words that can change the whole picture from gloom to brightness.

On the other hand, as Miss Norris points out in today's article, many wives never stop to think that their husbands have many burdens to bear. There are financial worries, difficulties in business, quarrels and arguments in the office. Often he sees some one else being advanced, unfairly as he believes. On top of this he has to take his share of responsibility for problems of his home. Wives who think their husbands have a gay round of golf and poker with a little work in between, are often quite wrong. Many men are putting a brave front on a painful life.

If both partners in marriage would strive to show how much they really appreciate the efforts and struggles necessary in a successful married life, they would both be happier, continues Miss Norris. Kind words are inspirations, making hardships and difficulties easier to face. A few words at the right time may alter the whole appearance of things.

and new hopes—these are not only a thousand times more important than dollars and cents, but they help a man to make new efforts, and these show right away in any family's budget. When talk at home is either non-existent, or resentful and bitter, many a man begins to look about for a poker game or a pleasant lady who would like some flowers, and many a woman goes downtown in a towering fury and buys not only the extravagant dress but the hat, too, yes, and the shoes, too, and let Bill Brown jump the bills if he doesn't like them!

One husband, years ago, turned at the door as he left a troubled, tired woman behind him. "Honey," he said, "this is a mean sort of time. But we'll get that thing paid, and little Daffy will get over her bronchitis, and we'll be in the country some day, and I'll never forget the way you pulled your weight now!"

She didn't need any more. She was on wings that day and for many days. She reminded him of it years later, when they really did have a country home with children racing about it, and when the budget wasn't a fiery-eyed monster who crept out of the shadows every month, but a respected friend. She went back in her memories to a city flat, two sick children, the staggering blow of a heavy and unexpected bill, her own fatigue, hard days at the office for her husband, rain falling—and the smile from the doorway, and the words that carried her over the flood like the grip of a strong and loving arm.

Cook Meat in 50 Seconds

A sirloin steak may be cooked in 50 seconds by electronics, a meat authority says.

Redman B. Davis, information department director for the National Live Stock and Meat board, said that a husband may never have to wait for a meat dish again if cooking by electronics becomes universal.

In laboratory tests, he said, grilled ham steak was cooked in 50 seconds and frozen meals thawed out and served hot in two minutes.

Summary on Marshall

WASHINGTON. — With General Marshall now in office six months, it is fair to summarize his abilities in the all-important, highly complicated job of secretary of state.

One fear expressed at the time of Marshall's appointment was that he might run the state department as a military organization; forget that he was a diplomat, not a soldier. Military men are accustomed to giving orders and having them carried out; a diplomat cannot give orders to a foreign country.

This fear has proved entirely unjustified. Marshall has leaned over backward to be a civilian; has run his department on a civilian basis.

Chief criticism of Marshall is that he has lacked confidence in himself, therefore has moved too cautiously. Unfortunately he had to take over a field in which—except for a brief experience in China—he was absolutely green. He had spent his life studying warlike matters; suddenly he was shifted to the problems of peace.

Therefore, Marshall has not moved with the same surefootedness as Jimmie Byrnes. Byrnes was a past master at negotiation. He did not have to lean on his advisers. He led and they followed.

To some extent Marshall has had to reverse this. He has had to learn the ropes all over again, could not entirely pick things up where Byrnes left off, has had to lean heavily on advisers and has lacked the experience to be able to challenge their decisions. Sometimes the results have been excellent—as in the Marshall plan, where the secretary of state leaned heavily on able George Kennan and followed his recommendations.

But the results have not been good in Argentina and Latin America, where the new secretary of state has leaned on other advisers.

Greatest setback the state department has suffered is the exodus of top, trained personnel. Here, the turnover has been so rapid that the oldest assistant secretary of state, in point of service, now is William Benton.

As a military man, Marshall knows the difficulty of leading troops in battle with green officers. Today his department of state is trying to win the battle of peace with some of the older and best-trained officers retired from the battlefield.

'SHOOTING INCIDENT'

It wasn't reported in the papers, but another "shooting incident" took place in the capitol—this one about 3 a. m. A sharp retort echoed through the still, marble corridors, coming from the direction of a public rest room. Jumpy capitol police, remembering Senator Bricker's recent encounter with a gunman, rushed to the scene with drawn pistols. Inside, they found a flustered visitor struggling with a screen. With a loud bang, he had kicked it to the floor.

Veterans Overlooked

After the smoke of congressional battle cleared, thousands of stunned veterans searched the headlines for word of an expected increase in students' subsistence, on-the-job training pay, plus promised automobiles for the blind and amputees. Both bills had passed the senate by unanimous vote, had been shoved hurriedly through the house veterans affairs committee.

However, nothing happened. The bills never passed.

Inside story is that GOP bosses in the house quietly turned thumbs down on the veterans legislation. Strategy was plotted at a secret meeting of the Republican steering committee, where Indiana's majority leader Charlie Halleck argued that the Republican party which had promised more economy than it had been able to legislate, could not afford any more veterans benefits—at least not this year.

This caused a vigorous clash inside Republican ranks.

Rules chairman Leo Allen obediently refused to grant necessary rules to permit a vote on the veterans' bills. But Massachusetts' motherly Edith Nourse Rogers, chairman of the veterans affairs committee, also a Republican, refused to be bullied. For three days she struggled to force the bills before the house.

On the eve of the last session, the lady from Massachusetts made a last desperate plea.

"I do not know how the members can go back and I do not know how I can go back," she cried, "and tell the veterans . . . 'No, the congress has passed millions and millions of dollars for relief to foreign countries and never counted the cost but we are not passing legislation for the veterans because of the cost.' . . . I believe the leadership will bring up those bills for action tomorrow. I still have faith. I do not believe that faith will be betrayed."

Prospects for Next Session

WASHINGTON. — Tax reduction looks certain for January. Indeed, certain Democratic directors privately say Mr. Truman will consider that "the right time," and he then will offer "the right kind." This is as sure as things politic go, because next year they will all have to run for reelection. Therefore the Republicans and Democrats are likely to battle each other to see who will give the taxpayer more consideration.

The Republicans should win because they then will have more pressure on their side for votes unless there is another war scare (real or quasi real). Treasury receipts should be higher, from the higher dollar volume of business, and more economies in government operation certainly will be worked out from the current high of 35 billion dollars peacetime appropriations authorized by congress for the fiscal year to next July 1.

The union reform law will be subject to revisions and corrections. Senate Policy Director Taft mentions the matter only once, as I recall, but all the leaders consider the bill to be only an initial step beginning their effort to solve the situation. From experience with the new law and the current congressional study will come the final permanent formula of the future for government-union relations.

WON'T SAVE MUCH.

The army-navy unification bill which was passed was largely a coordination bill, despite its title. It will not save as much money or increase efficiency as much as the genuine unification recommended in early studies, and advocated by advanced military thinkers since the days of Billy Mitchell. Yet it is something.

Creation by this congress of the new national science foundation was a major step intended to wrest that field from political control in this atomic era. Pure scientific research and fellowships for students of science were provided.

The portal-to-portal bill was the first major Republican legislation of the session, and economists noted that since it passed in the spring, business continued to rise. Certain business authorities think business hope was first rekindled by this denial of another six billion dollars of back non-working pay which the unions sought in the courts.

The appropriations of more than a billion for foreign aid certainly will be enough beyond January 1 in the estimation apparently of everyone. By that time the Republicans are likely to develop an aid program of their own out of the studies by congressional committees authorized for the recess. The Republicans also have authorized recess investigations of housing and prices.

The basic political defects in their rent decontrol legislation are being traced by some experts to the same cause as their failure to economize, namely that they were new to power, and therefore not fully acquainted with the tricks of the trade which the New Deal had developed.

KILLED HOUSING BILL.

Yet congress resisted the Taft-Elder-Wagner housing bill, which would have liberalized loans and also public housing for sub-standard families, and this will be the subject of the recess investigation, with a bill in prospect for next session. Also failing this time were socialized medicine, expansion of social security and federal aid to education.

Something certainly will be done as between the administration plan for a payroll tax to furnish medical aid and the Taft plan for large federal appropriations to the states for medical aid. The movement to liberalize social security next session, however, is likely to be complicated still further by the increasing number of private welfare plans. Federal aid to education will continue to be faced with religious objections. The universal military training program to draft young men for a year in the armed services is likely to fail next session also, unless the military shows a genuine need for the men, or a war scare develops a need.

So all in all, the Republicans did rather well. Their first half-chance at national leadership in 15 years developed finally, of course, into what has been called "government by a two-thirds majority."

Democratic presidential opposition forced them to acquire two-thirds of congress to do anything important about the major problems such as unions and taxes. But when you add up the complete score of the first session of their 80th congress, you will find the early spring dissatisfaction with their delays proved to be unjustified and they finished with genuine accomplishments.

Budget Pointers

There's a tendency to go along with the crowd when it comes to spending money, especially on food, instead of seeing what can be done to stretch the food dollar. Getting the most out of the food dollar does not, fortunately, mean that we have to tighten our belts; it just means a bit of maneuvering.

In the midst of soaring food costs, there's plenty of help for the woman who wants it, and today's recipes are designed to give you plenty of food for thought. Give your family a change of menu, and give the budget a chance to stay within its limits at the same time.

There are several general rules to follow: Buy wisely; don't overbuy and let food go to waste; serve and cook whatever you have properly, and don't toss away good leftovers.

For main dishes you can call on good quality proteins for front line duty; they're cheaper than the expensive cuts of meat and do just as much for you.

Macaroni-Cheese Souffle.

(Serves 6)

1 cup cooked macaroni
1 cup sweet cream or condensed milk
½ cup butter or substitute
1 cup soft bread crumbs
½ green pepper, minced
1 medium green onion, minced
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
½ cup grated cheddar cheese
Salt and pepper
4 eggs, separated

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain; scald milk and add other ingredients. Stir in beaten yolks, then fold in stiffly beaten whites. Turn into a greased casserole and set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for one hour. Serve with mushroom or pimiento cream sauce.

Eggs Foo Young.

(Serves 6)

6 eggs, beaten
1 No. 2 can bean sprouts
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
½ cup shredded onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ pound mushrooms, sliced, if desired

Add salt and pepper to eggs and beat well. Add remaining ingredients. Taste and add more seasoning if desired. For each cake, measure out ½ cup of the mixture and use 1 tablespoon of fat for frying. Pour mixture into skillet, leveling vegetables evenly over the surface of the cake. Brown on both sides, turning once. About five minutes are required to cook each cake. Serve with soy sauce.

Rice Nests With Egg.

(Serves 6)

¼ cup butter or substitute
1½ cups cooked rice
6 slices bacon
6 eggs
Salt and pepper

Butter a baking dish and place rice in it, forming nests out of it with a spoon. Broil the bacon and place one strip around each nest, holding it in place with a toothpick. Break an egg in each nest and sprinkle with salt and pepper and dot with butter. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven until the white of the egg is cooked but the yolk tender. This will take five to six minutes.

Among the kind - to - the - budget items is corned beef hash that comes canned and ready-to-serve. It's easily dressed up in pinwheels of baking powder biscuit dough, and certain to be a favorite with the men of the house.

*Corned Beef Hash Rolls.

(Serves 4)

1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
¼ to ½ cup milk
1 1-pound can corned beef hash
Mix dry ingredients together and sift. Work in shortening. Add liquid gradually, mixing to a soft dough. Roll to a thickness of about one-fourth inch. Spread corned beef hash on dough; roll and cut in four parts. Place on a greased cookie sheet (lifting with a pancake turner). Bake in a moderately hot (400-degree) oven for 30 minutes.

For an easy vegetable, take a can of green beans and make this:

*Sweet Sour Green Beans.

(Serves 4 to 5)

2 strips bacon
1 small onion
1 No. 2 can green beans
2 teaspoons sugar
Salt and pepper
¼ cup vinegar
Cut the bacon in half inch pieces. Brown lightly with diced onion. Add liquid drained from green beans. Cook down to about ½ cup. Add remaining ingredients and beans. Heat and serve.

If you want to keep the budget trimmed, don't splurge on desserts.

*Date-Nut Custard Pudding.

(Serves 6)

1 egg
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of cinnamon
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 8-ounce can date-nut bread
Beat egg slightly, add milk, sugar and salt. Cook in a double boiler until mixture coats the spoon. Remove from hot water and stir in lemon rind and cinnamon. Cut date-nut bread into pieces and combine with custard. Chill.

Here's a cookie that will take care of leftover egg whites and bread crumbs. Serve it with fruit for a nice, light dessert:

Pecan Brownies.

(Makes 3 dozen)

2 egg whites
1 cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon maple flavoring
1 cup pecans, chopped
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
Beat egg whites until stiff, add sugar and flavoring. Stir well, then fold in nuts and crumbs. Shape into small balls, place on a greased baking pan and bake in a slow (325-degree) oven for about 20 minutes.

Lima beans take on new character if they are well seasoned with salt and pepper plus a crumbling of crisply fried bacon.

A good relish with sliced leftover meat? Mix together 1 cup of applesauce, ½ cup of whipped cream and ¼ cup grated or pureed horseradish.

Do up your gingerbread right by serving it with a whipped cream topping. Use two tablespoons of molasses folded in 1 cup of the cream when whipped.

Brass-Hattism

Currently there are a lot of reports that American soldiers in Italy are being mistreated and harshly ruled by the commanding general of that area.

It seems that they are being required to salute officers when they meet them, and one recent case is said to be that of white soldiers who failed to salute Negro officers.

There is one thing about it that all the uproar overlooks. When General John C. H. Lee makes the GI salute, he is only doing what the Army Regulations say he will do. They don't say that the GI will salute if he isn't tired of saluting. The Army's law merely says "salute." And the Army's law even goes to the point of prescribing exactly the angle at which the cap will be worn. It tells you the temperature at which you will keep the water in which the mess kits are dipped.

A great deal of what we used to call "chicken" is part of the army law. It is never noticed by the average GI until some lieutenant is told by a captain who is told by some major who heard it from a lieutenant colonel who was chewed out by a chicken colonel who stood up before a brigadier general who said "yes, sir" to a major general who heard from a three star man who got the news from a full general that the five star boys had a directive from the secretary of war to tighten up on discipline.

The secretary of war got it from the president, who wondered why it was that so many soldiers were running around with sloppy looking uniforms.

So now Lt. Gen. Lee is going through the wringer, and will probably exercise his right to retire in a few months. But before you decide that an investigation of General Lee will stop the "chicken," remember that ever since Caesar, the brass has been taking care of the brass, and that Army Rules were just about the same when the Persians scratched them into stone tablets as they are today when printed up in little booklets.

There's an easy way to get rid of the "chicken." Get rid of war, for good.

And the way things look sometimes, the only way to get rid of war is to start another one, kill everybody in the world and turn it back to the oysters and deep sea fish.

They will probably live through it.

people will get their second wind and when they do, the Truman tax-veto may have far-reaching effects on foreign policy. It does not seem likely that the people will continue to send billions overseas when burdened and irritated by high prices and deadening taxes at home.

And this from Lynn Landrum of the Dallas News:

"After an American gets a comfortable income nowadays, he knows that whatever he begins to earn above that comfortable level will go mostly to taxes. Usually he doesn't take the trouble to do the extra work. Higher taxes, levied in progressive severity on income thus becomes a sort of tax on extra production. It may be a good idea, if you want the world to be a world of have-nots, in which each have-not is as fully deprived of the comforts of life as every other have-not. And, of course, there are theorists who not only want that kind of a world but will lie and kill and enslave in order to bring it to pass."

What do you think of that?

Evidently the editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram thinks well of Governor Jester's plan to create a state cabinet, for says he editorially:

"State government has expanded steadily for years to broaden its functions and pyramid its costs, and reasonably it has the same problem of reorganization that is recognized in the case of national government. Whether a state cabinet would expedite limitations upon state administration and spending before there is a public awakening to the import of public extravagance, undue governmental regulation and rising taxation, is problematical. But if that probable aboutface in public sentiment matures, a cabinet would be useful in the transition. The immediate benefits are sufficient to justify institution of the governor's plan."

And what do you think of this?

Danger In The Dark

Afraid of the dark? You should be, for your own safety.

Paradoxically, during the hours when there are fewer automobiles on the streets more people are killed in traffic accidents. Traffic during the hours of darkness, is less than half as heavy as by daylight, traffic and safety experts say, yet 60 percent of the persons who lose their lives in traffic accidents are killed at night.

Several factors contribute to this paradox. First, there is the fact that drivers and pedestrians are generally more fatigued at the end of the day and as darkness approaches. Too — and an important point — there is more drinking at night and consequently more drivers under the influence of alcohol and more pedestrians who are less alert when crossing the street.

Then comes a long list of contributing factors brought on by darkness itself — poor vision, glaring headlights, misdirected street lighting, and on and on.

Many of the latter hazardous elements can be eliminated by proper traffic engineering and improved lighting of streets and directional signs. Every community in the country should do all within its power to see that its streets and surrounding highways are properly lighted and made more safe for its citizens.

But the most important remedy for the tragic annual toll of night accidents, and the responsibility for that remedy, rests with the individual driver and pedestrian. All the improved lighting and engineering in the world will not correct the evil of the driver who persists in driving too fast. Nor will good lighting rid us of the inexcusable peril of the driver who refuses to dim his lights when approaching oncoming traffic, or the would-be killer who drinks too much, or the goon and grave digger who ignores traffic signals and ordinary courtesy of the road.

Likewise, we will not be rid of the candidates for suicide who walk along or cross the street deliberately disregarding the rules of safety or with too many hookers under their belts.

So, you see, until every individual responsible becomes more careful, especially at night, we will always suffer the loss of the lives of our friends, our relatives — or ourselves. Until the entire American public becomes overwhelmingly conscious of the need for safety on our streets and highways, we have every reason to be afraid of the dark.

Story Of A Lawbreaker

Here lie the remains of a driver who thought he could drink and still drive a car. Racing down the highway at a dangerous speed, his car wandered off the edge of the pavement, dragged on the sandy shoulder, and was wrenched into a spin. Drunken drivers are potential murderers of every other motorist who comes near them on the road. They were involved in more than 5,000 fatal accidents last year. National Conservation Bureau safety specialists say even one or two drinks slow up reactions, make judgment unsure, increase chances of accident three to four times.
